Good Evening!

7:00 (a.m.) Monday already?

7:15—What do the birds have to be so happy about? You'd think they'd let a fellow snatch a few extra winks.

8:00—Okay, if we have to think it, it's a lovely day. Now for a leisurely drive to the salt mines and a long esthetic drink of spring in its glory.

8:20—Everything but news in these morning rags. Jordan accusing Reds, Egyptians, Syrians; postoffice department still yapping for a postal rate increase it doesn't need; doggone Phils and Roberts kick one away to the bush league Pirates; politicians pushing as usual.

8:35—The mail and a stab in the back. Reader says we must be a Communist if we're in favor of higher school taxes to give the kids a better education.

9:10—Still in pain. These inspired paragraphs nothing but sweat and as hard to come by as winning 40-to-1 shot at Garden State.

9:30—Golf courses very nice at this time of year. Couple more lessons from U. S. Steel's Joe Dembeck and Steve Curtis and maybe we could quit newspapering. Only thing—the cost . . .

9:45—Dottie Lockwood's coffee break. That should do it. We're getting to be a regular caffeine hound, but any sacrifice worth while to further the tradition of looking after the peoples' interests. You have to wonder sometimes what they are.

10:00—Those simple pups romping around in the parking lot. Bet some little gent could have a real ball with 'em.

10:30—How does a guy manage to machine these scribbles day after day, year after year? And get away with such smarties as this: The trouble with thick, luxurious hotel towels is that they make the suitcase so hard to close. Oh, brother!

11:00 — (still a.m.) Today it's like Randolph Churchill, journalist son of Sir Winston, said when asked by reporters on his first visit to New York how he liked the trade:

11:02—"Well, I'll tell you. I love to travel. I like people. I enjoy the excitement and I like being in the middle of things. But, Oh, h—, how I HATE to write.

11:03—Voila! We made it. Watch your driving!

Baghdad Talks Seen Leading To New Coup

Anti-Communist Political Leaders Shaken By Decision

By UNITED PRESS

Israeli sources predicted today in Jerusalem the Baghdad talks between King Saud and King Feisal and Jordan's move toward the West might lead to a new coup by anti-Communist political leaders in Syria.

The sources said increased activities of the Russians in Syria could be expected to show the rightist groups the "suicidal tendency" of the present regime and produce another coup—and another about face in Syrian foreign policy.

Report reaching Jerusalem strongly indicated the left-wing Syrian leadership was badly shaken by Jordan's decision to accept 10 million dollars in U. S. aid even if it did not accept the Eisenhower Doctrine as such.

The Jerusalem dispatch said Syria was stepping up its propaganda attacks against Israel to cover up its growing internal crisis and that the attacks were designed to show the other Arab nations that Syria was the most anti-Israeli.

Indications increased that the Baghdad talks between King Saud of Saudi Arabia and King Feisal of Iraq were isolating the Syrian-Egyptian axis more and more. Israeli sources hoped frankly a Syria coup would leave Egypt on a limb by itself.

Egypt moved today to try to strengthen the neutralist bloc. President Gamal Abdel Nasser was receiving Premier Lemar E' Ali Mohammed Daud of Afghanistan, a strong pro-neutralist, who offered Afghan "volunteers" to Egypt during the Suez invasion.

In Baghdad, Feisal had hoped to show Saud the Western-supplied military might he recently placed at the disposal of Jordan's King Hussein during the recent crisis in Jordan. But rain caused cancellation of the parade. Diplomatic sources predicted Hussein would go to Iraq this week for three-power conferences.

Combustible Items Blamed In Hills Fire

Chief James Conklin of the Fairless Hills Volunteer Fire Co. declared today that the fire which destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rauch on Friday was definitely caused by combustible materials in contact with the hot water heater in the utility room.

U.S. Blasts Soviet Travel Restrictions

WASHINGTON (UP)—A U. S. note charged Russia with imposing "far more severe limitations" on travel by Americans in Russia than are spelled out in official Soviet regulations.

The United States said this has resulted in "a discrepancy" between the actual travel opportunities afforded American officials in Russia and those afforded Soviet personnel in the United States.

The United States asked Russia what steps it is prepared to take to bring treatment of the two nations' official representatives more nearly in balance.

Rain Failed To Dampen Their Spirits

Volunteers Start Re-Building Yerkes Barn

By JIM GOODMAN
Courier and Times Staff Writer
"It's just wonderful. I never thought it could happen." These were the words Howard Yerkes used to describe his feelings as he watched his friends and neighbors starting construction of a barn to replace the one he and his brother lost in the March 30 arson fire at Oakford. Despite the showers that slowed down, interrupted and finally brought a halt to the work Saturday afternoon, the more than 20 volunteer workers succeeded in getting a lot done in the first weekend of the barn-raising.

But it wasn't easy. The volunteers came out early Saturday morning, ready to work but a little overawed at their lack of fundamental knowledge for erecting a cinder block building.

"It was pretty discouraging," reported Edward Duckenfield, president of the Trevoise Heights Fire Co. that is sponsoring the barn-raising.

Then help arrived in the persons of Thomas Clayton, a Trevose blocklayer. Things were looking up.

Ideal Afternoon

Clayton showed the volunteers how to lay corner stones and the proper methods in building the cinder block barn.

The Saturday afternoon showers put a crimp in things for the workers but yesterday, they worked under ideal conditions. The overcast skies kept temperatures at about 60 degrees and never delivered on their constant threat of rain.

By late afternoon yesterday, the work had progressed to the extent that all the walls were started and had reached a level about three feet high.

The Yerkes brothers are hoping the barn will be completed in the next two weekends. If it isn't, they are in trouble.

They have approximately 1,500 bales of grain to be harvested in the first week of June and must have some place to store it out of the weather.

An uncle in Pleasantville has provided a place for the Yerkes brothers to keep the five cows that survived the barn fire but that is 25 miles away, too far to haul the grain economically.

The new barn will occupy an area 32 by 30 feet. It will be one-and-a-half stories high with the blocks going about 18 feet high. A frame roof construction will be used. A smaller group of workers will keep the job moving on evenings during the week.

The workers were fed on both days by members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Trevoise Heights Fire Co. They used food donated by late afternoon yesterday,

Lower Bucks Flood Aid Gets Boost In Senate

Sen. Johnson Challenges Ike On Budget

Says Eisenhower Is Speaking Out Both Sides Of Mouth

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson accused the Eisenhower administration today of speaking out of "both sides of its mouth" on spending.

He called on President Eisenhower to embrace publicly either the "spending wing" or "economy wing" of his administration so Congress will know what he wants it to do.

He added that the President's televised budget speech Tuesday night should show whether "he wants an economy administration or a spending administration."

The Texas Democrat loosed his new attack as the Senate prepared to take up this afternoon its first regular appropriation bill for the fiscal year beginning July 1. It was a House-approved measure carrying $3,965,291,000 for the Treasury and Post Office departments.

The Senate Appropriations Committee recommended acceptance of the House figure which was $30,364,000 below the administration request. The Senate's action will be considered a major test of its economy attitude toward other House budget cuts.

Johnson's criticism was contained in a statement quoting remarks of the President and other administration spokesmen.

Touring The Battlefield

As Viscount Sir Bernard Montgomery peers down the barrel of a Civil War 12-pounder cannon on Culps Hill in Gettysburg, Pa., President Eisenhower stands awaiting his turn. They were on a visit to the famed battlefield of the Civil War.

South Rises Again--This Time To Lee's Defense

ATLANTA (UP)—Southern blood turned plum to steam today at the very idea—Marse Robert getting "sacked" by a Republican!

President Eisenhower saying he would have "sacked" Gen. Robert E. Lee—greatest of them all (as any Southern school child will tell you)—for the way Lee fought the Battle of Gettysburg!

And Marshal Montgomery agreeing with him!

President Eisenhower and British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery Sunday touched off the Rebel yell anew in the thespians, where the boys will fight the Civil War over again at the drop of a magnolia blossom.

The World War II commanders-in-arms started it all as they tramped the green slopes and rocky hills of Gettysburg Sunday, and second guessed one of the greatest battles of the Civil War.

From the advantage of hindsight the President and the British field marshal criticized the tactics both of Lee and Gen. George G. Meade, who headed the boys in Blue.

They thought Lee reckless in ordering pickett's men into the celebrated charge across the open fields in a desperate attempt to break the Union lines.

And Meade, who had just assumed command of the Army of the Potomac, blundered in not pursuing Lee after the Southern attack failed. The World War II European commander and the hero of El Alamein agreed.

"It looks like everybody is getting into the act," Wilbur G. Kurtz, an Atlanta historian, said. "That was a very uncouth statement," Mrs. John L. Harper, president of the Atlanta Ladies Memorial Assn., said of Eisenhower's comment that he would have "sacked" Lee.

"That seems a little harsh to me," Beverly DeRose, president of the Atlanta Civil War Round Table said.

There were comments on the latter-day efforts to detract from the infallibility of a general whose battle strategy, incidentally, President Eisenhower himself studied in the classroom at West Point.

Eisenhower tempered his criticism somewhat when he told Montgomery that is some of the generals who fought the battle were alive today, "they probably would have criticized the way we fought."

Montgomery, nodded in agreement.

Eisenhower had his old friend "Monty" as a weekend guest at his Gettysburg farm, located on the fringe of the battle ground.

Pursued Car Hits Truck And House

Three civilian motorists Saturday night followed a drunken driving suspect through Bensalem and Bristol townships before his car wrecked a pick-up truck and a front porch on Main St., Tullytown, borough police said today.

As a result of the accident, Thomas J. Jones, 30, 1617 Rodman St., Philadelphia, will face Tullytown Justice of the Peace James Parto tonight on charges of reckless and drunken driving.

Testifying to Tullytown police that Jones drove recklessly were Dr. David Duncombe, who pronounced him drunk at Delaware Valley Osteopathic Hospital and two Cornwells Heights men. All three pursued Jones, they said, to try to stop him before an accident occurred.

Dr. Duncan told Patrolmen Steve Parto and John Steen, of Tullytown police he had called Bristol township police to report the wild driving. The other pursuers were Richard Ellis, 662 Wallace St. and Howard Thornbrow, 2123 River Road.

Truck Hit Twice

It was 11:55 p.m., five minutes before the change of police shifts, when Steve Parto and Steen got a call that a truck and house were hit on Main St., Tullytown.

The truck they found, belonged to Thomas Harrison, and was parked in front of his home. It was hit twice for a total loss. The home of Charles Robinson was also hit, at a cost of $150, police said.

It was Robinson's neighbor, Michael Tumminia who called the Tullytown police, and kept a watch on Jones in his damaged car until the patrolmen arrived. The officers said Jones had no insurance to cover the damage.

Von Stroheim Dies At 71

PARIS (UP)—Erich von Stroheim, 71-year-old actor-director who was Hollywood's "demon Prussian" of the 1920's, died of cancer at his country home near here Sunday night, it was reported today.

Von Stroheim, who had been bedridden for nine months, died at 9 p.m. in Maurepas. His artist-wife, Denise Vernac, was at his bedside when the end came.

Von Stroheim made his name in Hollywood films about World War I, in which he customarily appeared as a stiff-backed Prussian officer.

Two Autos Involved In Hulmeville Accident

Thomas W. Holzworth of Upper Black Eddy drove through a stop sign in Hulmeville yesterday and collided with another car, Constable Richard Garber said.

Police stated Holzworth went through the stop sign at Main and Trenton Aves. about 2:30 p.m. and collided with a car driven by Vincent Weiner, Philadelphia.

Damage to the vehicles wasn't determined immediately.

Kerr Appeals For Reversal Of House Vote

Amendment Killed After Rep. Curtin Supported Bill

Lower Bucks County flood victims received heartening news from Washington, D. C., today, despite the fact that the House of Representatives last week killed a bill calling for a federal flood insurance program.

Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-N.C.) appealed to the Senate today to reverse the House action. He said the government would save money in the long run by such a program because it eventually has to pay part of "natural disasters."

Rep. Willard S. Curtin, Member of Congress from the Eighth (Bucks-Lehigh) District last week called on his colleagues in the House of Representatives to provide flood insurance for victims of disasters such as occurred in the Lehigh and Delaware River Valleys two years ago.

It was Rep. Curtin's "maiden" speech on the floor of the House. He rose in support of an amendment to include $14,000,000 to implement the Federal Flood Indemnity Insurance program.

The amendment was lost, however, when 127 voted against the amendment and 97 members favored it. In a later statement, Curtin said "I intend to keep fighting for flood insurance and will not let this setback discourage me in any way. I think flood insurance is a must for the people of Bucks and Lehigh Counties, and I shall continue to press vigorously for this program."

'Has Suffered Severely'

The administration urged today that the Senate restore to a supplemental appropriation bill 50 million dollars to finance an experimental flood insurance program.

Housing Chief Albert M. Cole and Flood Insurance Commissioner Frank J. Meistrill told the Senate Appropriations Committee that the insurance program includes safeguards against any "immense and incalculable losses" by the government.

Flood Rates

The flood insurance rates would range from $1 to $2.50 per $100, Meistrill said.

He said his agency has developed a "sound and workable" program that would "satisfy an urgent need."

Congress last year authorized a five-year, experimental program but did not appropriate money to finance it.

In his talk to the House, Curtin said, "I come from a District which over the years has suffered severely from flood waters, especially in 1955, the same as many other districts suffered from the hurricane-caused damage of that year. Our people living in the path of these flood waters endured tremendous and complete losses, due to their inability to protect themselves adequately by privately financed insurance. In anticipation of such damage, because floods are certain."

Levittown Woman Is Found Dead

A Levittown widow, Mrs. Sylvia Dewsnap, 37, was found dead on the floor of her living room at 57 Kentucky Lane, Kenwood, last night. A broken rope by which she had been hanging from a banister was tied to her neck in a noose.

Her death was discovered by her brother-in-law, Louis C. Sutrick, of 609 Central Avenue, Croydon, shortly before 9:30 p.m. Sutrick had gone to the house after his wife, Berdina, Mrs. Dewsnap's sister, failed to reach her by telephone.

Mr. Dewsnap's husband, Samuel, died last November. She had no children. Surviving are her mother, Mrs. Cora Hamilton, 271 McKinley St., Bristol; three sisters, Mrs. Surrick, and Mrs. Hilda Kelly, 244 Cleveland St., and Mrs. Teresa Lelinski, 321 McKinley St., Bristol and a brother, Theodore, of Falling Timber.

Responding to a call to Bristol township police, Chief John R. Stewart and Sgt. Harry Bauer investigated and called Bucks County Coroner Thomas C. Lamb. A certificate of death by suicide was issued.

Youth Held On Charges

A 19-year-old Bensalem youth could face prosecution on morals charges in Bucks County or in Philadelphia courts, Chief William Riemp, Bensalem police, said today.

The youth Robert A. Stocker, Grove Avenue, Oakford, was arrested yesterday on morals charges involving a 15-year-old Philadelphia girl.

Stocker told police he first met the girl Friday night. The alleged assault occurred Saturday on a lonely section of Richieu Road near Eddington.

Chief Riemp said the girl had been visiting Levittown earlier in the day and went with Stocker to a drive-in movie that night. The girl reported the alleged attack to police and Stocker was taken into custody about 1 p.m. yesterday.

Police investigated at the spot where the girl said the attack took place and found it to be across the line into Philadelphia city limits. The chief said he would check today with Bucks County District Attorney Donald W. VanArtsdalen to see where prosecution would be conducted.

Thousands Of Fish Left High And Dry

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A valve failure drained the 75-acre North Park artificial lake Sunday, stranding thousands of fish and giving "hand anglers" a field day.

A drainage gate, opened to draw off high water, stuck when workmen attempted to close it and the lake slowly turned into a vast mud flat.

Most of the trout, bass, carp and bluegill in the recently stocked lake were swept into sulphur-polluted South Pine Creek and died. A few escaped up-stream, but large quantities were trapped in shallow pools in the mud.

Fishermen, neighbors and passing motorists waded into the mud to scoop up the helpless fish. Several hours later county police halted the fish gathering for fear some one might be caught in the deep mud.

County Parks Director George B. McDonough said the artificial lake would refill in about five days. But fishing was ruined for the season, he said, unless the Commonwealth ordered an emergency re-stocking.

McDonough said the drainage gate was opened Saturday. But when workmen turned the valve "worm which closes the gate, located 15 feet under water, it shut only partially, he said.

"When we realized the fish were in danger we even used a pile driver to try to force the gate shut," he said.

Workmen finally closed the gate last evening after the water level had dropped below it.

9 Auto Fatalities Are Listed In State

Traffic accidents on Pennsylvania highways during the week ended brought death to at least nine persons, a United Press survey showed today.

Although showers and thunderstorms broke dry spells in many parts of the state, police said most of the fatal mishaps occurred on dry roads.

Three small children drowned near Lebanon when the brakes failed on a parked automobile in which they were sitting and the machine rolled down a slope into the six-foot deep waters of Stover Lake.

The fatalities included:

Uniontown: Rosella Dunko, 27, Morgantown, W. Va., was killed yesterday when her car left a rural road near Fairchance, Fayette County, and overturned. The victim was pinned under the machine.

Chambersburg: Joseph Lee Swartz, 41, Newburg, died in Chambersburg Hospital Saturday night of injuries suffered when his car collided with a truck on Route 11, north of here as he was enroute home from work.

Lebanon: Three children of a Jonestown family were drowned late Saturday when the parked car in which they were sitting drifted down a slope into six feet of water in Stovers Lake. The victims were Nicholas, 3, Paul, 2, and Sylvia Yandrich, 8 months.

Miss Monroe was on hand for a soccer game between the American League All-Stars and Hapoel of Israel, the Israeli championship team for which she is mascot.

She kicked off the first ball of the game three times—twice for photographers and once for the real McCoy.

One of the kicks made a direct hit—and United Press photographer Joel Landau has a lump on the head to prove it.

Miss Monroe, in spike-heeled shoes and wearing a skimpy blue dress held up by shoulder straps that kept slipping breathlessly low, limped off to the showers on the arm of Judge Samuel Liebowitz, her official escort for the day.

Final PTA Session Set

The Lafayette School PTA will hold its final meeting of the season tonight at 8 o'clock, in the all-purpose room of the school, it has been announced.

In addition to installation of officers for the coming year, two speakers will address the meeting. Henry Lotto, president of the LCA, Chairman of the Bristol Township Associate School Board and a member of both the Citizens' Educational Council and the Joint Council of PTA's, will explain the bill currently up for state legislation regarding the establishment of non-political school boards.

Mrs. John Etlinger, public health nurse, will speak on "Your Child and Polio." She will be available to answer questions on the topic during a general discussion to follow.

Stephen Yandrich, 9, a cousin of the victims, also was in the car, but he managed to jump free.

McKeesport: James Fione, 11, Green Valley was injured fatally Saturday when he ran into the side of a moving truck.

Pittsburgh: Scott Redding, 17, Mt. Lebanon, was killed Saturday when his car collided with a truck at a suburban intersection on Route 148.

Quakertown: A highway collision on Route 663 west of here Friday night took the lives of Pasquale Morro, 30, and Louis Gerlet, both of Quakertown. Police said Morro's car swerved over the medial strip and crashed broadside into a machine driven by Mrs. Vivian Ashenfelter, 33, Pennsburg. Mrs. Ashenfelter suffered a broken jaw.

Marilyn Gives Them A 'Kick'

NEW YORK (UP) — Marilyn Monroe took a brief fling in the world of sports Sunday and came out with a limp.

Miss Monroe was on hand for a soccer game between the American League All-Stars and Hapoel of Israel, the Israeli championship team for which she is mascot.

She kicked off the first ball of the game three times—twice for photographers and once for the real McCoy.

An elderly man drowned and a woman was missing at Lampasas where the water came so fast merchants chopped holes in the ceilings of their stores to escape.

Broken Levee
A broken levee sent the water swirling into Lampasas in the midst of a cloudburst of nearly seven inches.

A gas main burst into flames in the center of town and firemen fought in chest-high water to put it out.

Ward Lowe, publisher of the Lampasas Dispatch, reported the flash flood last night destroyed about 90 per cent of the town. By morning, the water was draining away.

A 5-inch rain yesterday gave Dallas its third flood in less than three weeks. More than 100 streets were closed by water and 250 persons were forced from their homes. An old two-story building collapsed on a main street. A new storm hit Dallas after dark.

Fort Worth suffered local flooding. Some residents in the suburb of Richland Hills rushed from their homes yesterday, fearing a flood.

The Weather Bureau alerted parts of north-central and north-eastern Texas and sections of Oklahoma and Arkansas to severe thunderstorm and tornado dangers until 4 p.m. today.

Thunderclouds made Waco, in Central Texas, as dark as midnight at 8 a.m. today. Motorists drove with lights on.

High winds reaching 80 miles per hour and tornadoes accompanied the rain storms in Texas. One tornado hit Crawford, near Waco, causing property damage but no injuries. Numerous funnel clouds were observed in northeast and west-central Texas during the night.

Flood waters also threatened in Louisiana. The rising Red River swamped some homes and farmland near Brouillette, and authorities feared some 150 homes would be flooded before the river begins receding.

A freak hail storm in southwestern Oklahoma piled up a solid, one foot thick sheet of ice over a half square mile area near Altus. Hail the size of marbles accumulated in frozen drifts along an area one mile wide and 10 miles long. Hail storms also battered sections of Iowa and Colorado.

Week-end rains were welcomed in New England, dousing raging forest fires that caused an estimated 10 million dollars in damage. Authorities said rains Saturday and Sunday virtually ended the threat of more blazes in fire-blackened sections of Massachusetts and other northeastern areas.

Fog over parts of the Midwest during the night was blamed for a car-bus crash that killed four members of a Blairsville, Pa., family along the Ohio Turnpike. All of the victims were in the car, a station wagon. Two persons aboard the Greyhound bus were hospitalized with injuries.

Groups To Air Problems On Storage Tank

Morrisville's Borough Council and Municipal Authority will meet in special session tonight to attack the borough's problem of a faulty water standpipe.

The 150-foot storage tank outside the borough secretary's office on North Delmorr Ave. has not been performing up to par.

It may be necessary to replace the tank with a new one. Such a venture may cost $20,000 and financial arrangements will be made at this session if the purchase of a new tank is necessary.

The water committee will propose to council that half of the present storage tank be torn down.

The remaining half will eliminate the danger of an unsafe structure and at the same time supply the borough with an adequate water supply.

The emergency session is set for 8 o'clock at the Borough Hall.

Howley Says Signs Commitment Honored

Edward R. Howley, chairman of the Falls Township Democratic party, today announced that the Democrats had honored the commitment that he had made at the Board of supervisors meeting on Tuesday night to remove the political signs on Mill Creek Parkway and on Tyburn Road.

Mr. Howley called on Jim Paul, chairman of the Falls Township Republican Club, to remove the political stickers that are defacing thousands of light poles in Falls township. He said that the stickers which bear the legend "Let's Clean House With Kraus" were put up by Republican workers, including Paul, last Fall. Howley stated "Jim Paul was very vocal at the Supervisors meeting about the Democratic signs and I call on him to 'clean house' now to rid the Township of these undesirable stickers by removing them from the light poles immediately.

'Die Is Cast' In Morrisville On Washington St. Extension

Tomorrow is D-Day in Morrisville.

After many months of haggling pro and con, the heated Washington St. extension comes up for a decision at a regular session of council.

The balance of power seems to be in the hands of one councilman, Thomas T. Purcell, Jr., a Democratic councilman from the borough's second ward.

Five councilmen strongly advocate the plan.

Two councilmen are just as strongly against it.

Appears to Waver

Purcell, who previously voted for the extension, now appears to be wavering.

Purcell has distributed a letter among his constituents and has announced he will be guided by the results of the poll.

A Democratic party spokesman said Purcell "is still in favor of the extension and will vote for it tomorrow."

Opposite View

On the other hand, an opponent of the extension said Purcell "will certainly vote against it."

The councilman himself could not be reached for comment.

Council President Nicholas Milan and Councilmen John Sawyer, Edward Mannix, all

Democrats, and Councilmen William Schrieber, and Charles Elcock, Republicans, have come out publicly for the plan.

James Magee, Democrat, and Neal Nolan, Republican, have opposed it.

Three Votes Kill

Three negative votes of the eight councilmen will be enough to deal the extension a mortal blow.

Two more affirmative votes will make the extension law. If the ordinance is passed tonight on its second reading, the third reading may follow immediately afterward.

The ladies group of the Yardley Community Center will serve a roast chicken dinner with all the trimmings for $1.25 a plate.

All proceeds from the affair will go towards repair, painting and upkeep of the Yardley Community Center.

The dancing concession will be handled by VFW women of Yardley. Committee members include Mrs. Russell Arata, Mrs. Irwin Hibbs, Mrs. Edward Rupprecht, Mrs. Harry McDonnell, and Mrs. Thomas Woolman.

Beck Favors Are Probed

WASHINGTON (UP) — Dave Beck undergoes another round of his "trial by exposure" today that already has led to predictions he is through as head of the nation's largest union.

The Senate Rackets Committee called two business executives to state whether doing business with Beck's Teamster Union had meant giving special favors to Beck.

The witnesses were Roy Fruehauf, president of the Fruehauf Trailer Co., and A. M. Burke, head of the mortgage loan department of the Occidental Insurance Co.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said their appearance did not necessarily mean the committee had evidence of wrongdoing by their firms. He said the group wanted to ask them whether Beck asked for favors as a follow-up to his business deals with their companies.

Teamster Union sources told the United Press during the week end they believe Beck now "is through" as head of the 1,500,000-man Teamsters Union. They predicted committee testimony that Beck profited from a "charity" fund collected for the widow of his best friend would anger rank-and-file Teamsters and prove Beck's undoing.

Sources in both the Teamsters Union and its parent AFL-CIO said it is now conceivable Beck will either resign or "retire" as Teamster president by Aug. 1. Teamster leaders were said to be pressing Beck to leave his $50,000-a-year-plus-expenses post.

Hulmeville Driver Released In Bail

A Hulmeville man was released on $500 bail this morning following a hearing before JP John Melvin on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Falls Township police officer Lyle Gass said Stanley Davis, 30, was arrested Saturday on Route 1 after police said he was "bobbing and weaving" along the road.

Police said he was doing about 50 miles an hour and when finally stopped was "most uncooperative."

He was released on bail for a hearing in the next term of court.

Driver Given Jail Term

A 19-year-old driver from Kings Farms, Morrisville, was committed to Bucks County Prison over the weekend following a traffic accident in Falls Township.

Robert Davis was sentenced to 30 days by JP John Melvin, Falls Township, after he collided with the car of Israel Sauchez, Kings Farms, on the Bordentown Road.

Officers Edward Born and Robert Dapp said Davis was driving without a license when he struck the car of Sauchez.

Police said the car of Sauchez was parked on the road when the young driver struck the other car.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet. —Adv
